

GRAZING GRASS

With turnout underway for many of us, here at SC Nutrition Ltd we are looking at ways we can help our customers, both new and old to make the most of this great resource.

Grazed grass is often the cheapest feed source which provides many opportunities to reduce overall feed costs. However, it can come with its difficulties so that is why we are out on farms carrying out on farm testing to help you manage your grazing effectively.

Grazing tests

Rumen Health Analysis- By carrying out a dung sieve we can assess rumen function and look to tailor a solution to any problem.

Grass sampling- By knowing the values of the grass crop, we can use these figures to work into the cow's ration.

Grass Measuring- Grass growth has been considerably slower this spring in southern England, due to a colder winter (Grass Check GB). By measuring some of your grazing we identify the quantity of grass on the platform. This will help you decide how to graze and how long for.
